Universitas Indonesia and Indonesian Environmental Scientists Association (IESA) participate to preserve mangrove forests in Jakarta

Description:

Universitas Indonesia collaborates with several foundations and NGOs regarding environmental awareness on climate adaptation through planting mangrove trees to support clean air and water in the city. Another activity is a collaboration between DKI Jakarta's regional government, IESA, and Sekolah Ilmu Lingkungan (SIL UI) through DLH and AEON Environmental Foundation to plant mangroves at Kawasan Elang Laut, Pantai Indah Kapuk, on Saturday, July 13, 2019. Penanaman Seribu Mangrove by UI students gives out a thousand mangrove seedlings to Mekar Bahari Youth Group (KPMB) in Blanakan Village in the event of Student Community Service (Kuliah Kerja Nyata (KKN)).

The planting mangroves activity is also supported by Blanakan Village's government who also participated in the location with the village supervisory non-commissioned officers (Bintara Pembina Desa (Babinsa), the community police officer (Bhabinkamtibmas), and the village's Youth Organization (Karang Taruna).
