[16.3.1] Participation in Government Research

Description :

Universitas Indonesia continuously commits to the advancement of the nation through participating in local, regional, and national government research. Universitas Indonesia's researchers produce policy briefs as well as conducting collaborative research and consultations with various government entities. For example, at the local level, Universitas Indonesia researchers created a mobile application that assists expecting mothers to find good access for quality maternal care. At the regional level, the SMART CITY initiative assists the development of the regency of Mappi in the province of Papua in east Indonesia. SMART CITY also provided assistance for the city of Sukabumi government in the province of West Java to become a smart city. At the national level, Universitas Indonesia collaborates with the National Planning Development Agency to develop a sustainable plan to integrate smart city and technology facilities in the upcoming new capital of Indonesia in East Kalimantan.
